Preparing and delivering nutritious meals for our community is the core of our mission.

In 2010, more than 368 weekly volunteers provided the gift of time, talent and resources to guarantee that our community of clients battling disease received the nourishment needed to improve quality of life. Our family of volunteers raises our spirits and inspires the people we serve while attaining deep personal fulfillment along the way. This annual report is dedicated to more than 2,800 volunteers who generously contributed their time and effort to prepare, package and deliver more than 415,000 meals to our clients in 2010. You are the heart of our organization.

A message from the Executive Director and Board President

Erin Pulling

Mark Thrun, M.D.

Because of your monetary gifts, Project Angel Heart continues to succeed and grow despite ongoing economic instability.

The past year was a wonderfully busy one for Project Angel Heart. Each day of 2010 was filled to the brim with work on our vital mission, including a particular focus on quietly laying the groundwork for milestones to come—including a new home for Project Angel Heart and our twentieth anniversary, just over the horizon.

In light of the quality support provided by our community of donors and volunteers, the fact that the work of 2010 was relatively quiet in nature seems perfectly apropos. Contributions of personal significance, highly individualized and nearly always unpublicized, are the hallmark of the supporters who drive Project Angel Heart's success. Inspired by Project Angel Heart's future vision and business model, one donor surprised Project Angel Heart with a $50,000 year-end contribution. Of equal personal significance, a six-year-old visited the agency to deliver a $52 donation—a year's worth of the charitable giving portion of his allowance—directly to Executive Chef Jon Emanuel, telling him that it should be spent "on healthy food for people who are sick." And despite adjusting to a household job loss, a family of loyal Project Angel Heart supporters continued to donate a full 10% of their household income, based on a steadfast belief that while other expenses can be cut, support of Project Angel Heart cannot be compromised. We even heard from a client, living in poverty, who sent us $3 folded into a note expressing her immense gratitude for the meals that arrive on her doorstep each week, without fail.

The personal significance behind the time donated by our volunteers is laden with just as much meaning and passion. One Wednesday morning kitchen volunteer is a cancer survivor whose time with us keeps her gratitude for her restored good health at the forefront of her daily thoughts. After losing a son to AIDS more than ten years ago, another volunteer remains committed to making birthday cards for clients, in remembrance of the loved one who originally inspired her support of our mission. And when one of our long-time kitchen volunteers passed away, his son took up his place in the dishing line each week in commemoration of his father's service to our community, now working with the same volunteer crew his dad once belonged to.

None of you, the 2,872 volunteers and 8,366 donors who supported Project Angel Heart in 2010, did so in hopes of accolades or loud recognition. Instead, you are the constantly humming, driving force behind our success. You give gifts of personal significance simply because you recognize the value of being in a position to contribute. Because of your monetary gifts, Project Angel Heart continues to succeed and grow despite ongoing economic instability. Because of your gifts of time, Project Angel Heart continues to operate with exceptional efficiency, dedicating 92% of revenue directly to our meal program. Because of your impassioned support, Project Angel Heart is the model of a nonprofit that thrives thanks to community ownership. And by helping us thrive, you save lives.

The coming year is sure to include a great deal of fanfare and exuberant celebration. We will celebrate our twentieth anniversary of service to this community and unveil our plans for the future growth of Project Angel Heart, and we could not be more excited for all that is to come. Yet these plans are made possible only by the quiet, steady work and contributions directed to Project Angel Heart in 2010. Among you is the volunteer who has twice lost a long-time partner, twice rebuilt his life, and who now, in retirement, donates his time assisting in the Project Angel Heart office. Among you is the donor who lives modestly off of a small inheritance yet continues to work so he can donate all of his earnings to charity. Among you is the Bread & Butter Club member who told us that, since having been put on 50% furlough, Project Angel Heart donations and his mortgage are the most important things he pays for each month.

You are the unshakeable foundation upon which another year of agency success has been built. In the breadth and quality of your 2010 contributions of personal significance lie the substance and promise of our current and future success. On behalf of the thousands of beneficiaries of your generosity, thank you.

With Gratitude,

Erin Pulling, MNM

a meal with heart gives hope

For more than 70% of Project Angel Heart's clients, modified meals designed to meet heightened dietary requirements are an absolute necessity.

Project Angel Heart's commitment to fulfill these needs with fresh, delicious and nutritionally appropriate meals exemplifies our commitment to the overall health and quality of life of the clients we serve.

Some examples of our modified meal options include:

Standard

These are the meals made with the chef's original, healthy recipe.

Allergy Sensitive

A safe option for those with allergies or intolerances to dairy, coconut, mushrooms, and eggs. We accommodate other allergies with added restrictions, often through omission of gluten, fish, nuts, and/or other foods.

Naked

The "naked" diet includes meals that have been made without wine, herbs, peppers, onions, or highly flavorful or exotic foods. Our senior clients and those undergoing chemotherapy (which can cause sensitive taste buds) often prefer this menu option.

Renal

This diet is tailored to meet the needs of those with kidney disease. For clients coping with end-stage renal disease, a renal diet helps control the buildup of waste products and fluid in the blood and decreases the workload of the kidneys. Project Angel Heart's renal diet includes meals low in potassium, sodium, phosphorus and acid; higher protein-to-carbohydrate ratios; and no added sugar.

Vegetarian

The vegetarian diet is a delicious option for our clients who prefer/require meals without meat. Adequate protein is ensured through the use of ingredients ranging from tofu and tempeh to eggs.

On average, Project Angel Heart prepares 30 different menu variations per day.

Chef's Corner

Puerto Rican Style Sofrito (Condiment and Seasoning, yields 2 cups)

- ¼ cup pure olive oil
- 1 tsp of annatto seeds (also called achiote seeds, available at Latin markets), rinsed and dried
- 1 pinch saffron
- ¼ cup chicken or vegetable stock
- 2 large red bell peppers, diced
- ½ large yellow onion, diced
- 4 garlic cloves
- 1 bunch cilantro, chopped
- 1 tsp dried oregano
- 2 tsp mild ground chile powder, like guajillo (available in Latin markets)
- 1 tsp paprika
- 2 tsp ground cumin
- Salt and pepper to taste

At Project Angel Heart, we use this sofrito primarily on top of baked fish, but we also use it in stews containing chicken and pork. Its earthy flavor and fragrant aroma come primarily from the annatto-infused oil the mixture is simmered in. Use sofrito on or in anything that can use a bold, Caribbean-style kick!

In a small saucepan, heat the olive oil on high until it is hot but before it begins to smoke. Reduce the heat, add the annatto seeds, and cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Let cool completely and strain through a fine mesh sieve. Return the oil to the saucepan and discard the seeds.

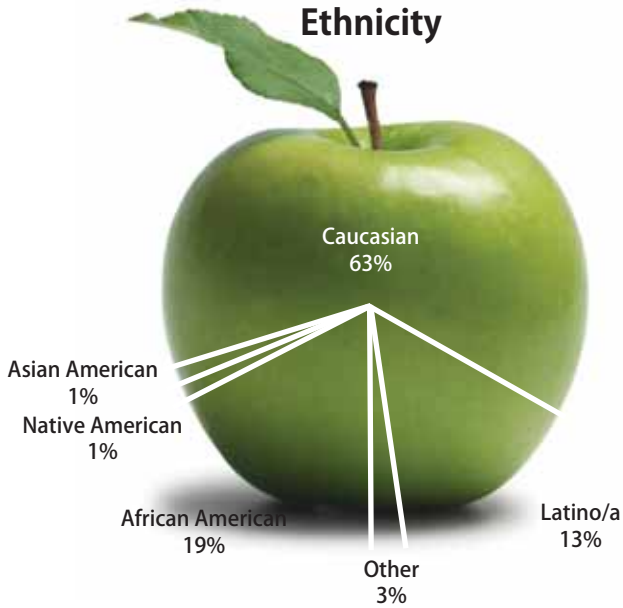

Add the saffron to the stock and set aside.

In a blender or food processor, blend the peppers, onion, garlic, cilantro and oregano. Add the puree to the saucepan and heat at medium high until it boils. Reduce the heat to medium low, add the saffron/stock, chili powder, paprika and cumin, and simmer for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Season with salt and pepper and remove from heat. The sofrito may be used immediately, chilled or frozen in an ice cube tray to add to dishes as you wish. Enjoy!

Did You Know?

Project Angel Heart is the ONLY program in Colorado to prepare and deliver meals for people of any age, battling a variety of life-threatening illnesses, free of charge.

Perhaps our greatest asset is the unwavering support of more than 2,800 annual volunteers who dedicate their time, talents and hearts to our mission.

At Project Angel Heart, members of the community come together to touch the lives of hundreds of neighbors and friends in need of support. Whether preparing, packing, or delivering meals, decorating client meal bags and birthday cards, supporting us at special events, or providing administrative support, our talented volunteers have fun in the process. Without the dedication of every one of these incredible people and the community of friendship they create, we simply could not succeed as we do in our work. Our volunteer opportunities are as diverse as our volunteers, and we have a meaningful volunteer assignment for nearly everyone who has a desire and a few hours available.

To celebrate volunteers, we host a Hearts of Gold reception in their honor each year.

The 2010 Hearts of Gold celebration was held at the Capitol Hill Community Center on September 19.

Did You Know?

In 2010, our amazing volunteers drove 69,025 miles to deliver meals to our clients. Every week, volunteers drove 1,360 miles, and overall, provided 49,317 hours of service to Project Angel Heart. Volunteers helped to chop and prep 9 tons of carrots, 9 tons of onions and 12 tons of chicken last year!

“Not only is my time spent at Project Angel Heart important for others, it’s also some of my most enjoyable time spent each week.”

– Bill McAdams, Kitchen and Delivery Volunteer

“Being a single mom and having such a drop in income due to treatment added an extra worry about food. But, the fact that I knew meals would come every week lifted some of that stress because I knew that food was coming soon...” — Leslie, 35, living with breast cancer

The Bread & Butter Club

The Bread & Butter Club Reception is an annual event to celebrate the dedication and support of members who give a monthly sustaining donation to Project Angel Heart.

Last year’s reception was held on Friday, June 25th, at the lovely home and gardens of Lisa and Roger Koenigsberg. Nearly 250 Bread & Butter Club members gathered together to enjoy the vocals of the Harmony Chorale Harmonix while savoring the culinary delights of Lifestyles Catering. Desserts and espresso were provided by Gelato D’Italia and The Espresso Affair. Full bar service was provided by Bartenders and More.

The Bread & Butter Club is a group of extraordinary Project Angel Heart donors who commit to supporting our mission on an ongoing basis. In 2010, more than 340 Bread & Butter Club members contributed $205,000 to the Project Angel Heart budget—an increase of nearly 14% over 2009 contributions! Thanks to the Gay & Lesbian Fund for Colorado, new or increased pledges to the Bread & Butter were matched.

Please consider joining the Bread & Butter Club. Membership is available with a minimum contribution of $360 per year ($30 per month). Visit www.ProjectAngelHeart.org to sign up or for more information.

Project Angel Heart volunteers go the extra mile, from design to delivery. Those we serve receive weekly deliveries of meals in bags that have been decorated by volunteers—just another little touch that means the world to our clients.

Volunteer Story: Food Transforms an Entire Lifestyle

My mother and I have always had a close relationship. Before I left for college to study Biology, she and I went on a mother-daughter bonding trip, where I fell in love with the idea that food could transform an entire lifestyle. Looking back, she was the person who taught me how to cook and to appreciate food as something that fills up more than just our stomachs.

Ever since my first day at Project Angel Heart, I was in love with the mission. I immersed myself in every aspect. Of course I do my best to fulfill my culinary ambitions in the kitchen, but I also assist in the office, in the distribution department, and at events.

Project Angel Heart has been very influential in my life. For me, it has provided career direction, empowerment to help others, and the chance to expand my recipe collection. Because my life has been blessed, I know how lucky this makes me, and I know that not everyone is as privileged. Project Angel Heart allows me to improve someone else's life. I can share my prosperity, and I revel in that opportunity.

Client Story: Hannah

For some people, life's challenges begin all too soon. By the time Hannah was just six months old, her mother Wanda knew something wasn't right. "For a newborn, food is often a messy and challenging experience. But Hannah was having trouble keeping just about everything down," Wanda recalls. After years of testing and questions, an MRI at the age of three revealed that Hannah was born with a rare brain disease known as Glutaric Aciduria Type 1 (GA1). The disease makes it nearly impossible for the patient to consume any proteins, which causes the body to attack and permanently damage the brain.

The demanding challenge of feeding her sick child was daunting for Wanda, to say the least. "Because this disease affects the nervous system, your body is in almost constant movement, so you burn tons and tons of calories. I used to feed Hannah 15 times a day and would spend 10 hours every night making food that had precisely what she could eat, leaving out the things that would make her sick. Because I was always exhausted, I was never able to spend quality time with my daughter."

Hannah at age 4

"Our lives changed on day one, with the first meal."

– Wanda, Hannah's Mom

It was then that Wanda was introduced to Project Angel Heart, a place where her daughter's unique and rapidly changing dietary needs could be met.

Since 2005, Hannah has been receiving meals from Project Angel Heart. As Wanda recalls, "our lives changed on day one, with the first meal." Hannah was three years old at the time, weighed only 29 pounds, and was not expected to live past her sixth birthday.

Today, Hannah is a happy nine-year-old. Life is still a challenge each and every day for her and her family. But because of Project Angel Heart, it is far more manageable. Wanda is able to cherish more and more time with Hannah. And Hannah is able to grow up a little bit more.

As Wanda explains, "Hannah loves Project Angel Heart's meals because they are delicious, they come in a variety which allows her to develop preferences, and at times she can even feed herself. The kind of financial, emotional and physical help that Project Angel Heart gives is not comparable with any other organization."

Art for Life (August 26, 2010)

Vibrant art, delectable culinary creations and lively camaraderie created a palette full of fun and flavor at the 9th annual Art for Life event, held for the first time ever at Artwork Network in the Santa Fe Art District. In partnership with Saks Galleries, more than 100 talented artists contributed their fine creations in support of our mission. Plein air landscape artist Cheryl St. John's colorful "Coffee Break" was the poster art for this year's event, and Denver artist Laurie Maves was in attendance, creating "live art" throughout the evening. Art lovers and friends enjoyed an array of delicious hors d'oeuvres prepared by local culinary chefs, as well as cocktails and wine to satisfy their palates.

Sweeten Someone's Life this Season

During the Thanksgiving holiday, our Denver-area and Colorado Springs supporters Sweetened Someone's Life through our 2nd annual Pie in the Sky fundraiser. By purchasing freshly baked apple, cherry, pumpkin and/or pecan Bluepoint Bakery pies, supporters celebrated the holiday season and demonstrated their commitment to Project Angel Heart. More than 1,200 pies were sold online between October 15th and November 17th, raising nearly $35,000 and providing more than 6,000 meals for our clients. Of the total pies purchased, 222 were donated to clients and their families for the Thanksgiving holiday.

We are thankful for the contribution of Bluepoint Bakery, a wholesale gourmet bakery in Denver that generously baked and donated ALL the pies for this event.

Seared Pork Tenderloin with Caponata (serves 4)

This dish is a client favorite. It showcases some of the flavors we capture and deliver in our meals.

Pork Tenderloin & Seasoning Mixture

- 2 tbsp dried basil
- 1 tbsp dried oregano
- 1 tbsp paprika
- 3 tbsp salt
- 3 tsp pepper
- 1 ½ lbs pork tenderloin
- 1/3 cup olive oil
- 3 tbsp lemon juice
- Salt (to taste)
- Pepper (to taste)

Caponata

- 2 eggplant, halved
- 1 onion, peeled and quartered
- 5 garlic cloves, crushed
- 4 oz mushrooms, whole
- 3 tbsp capers
- 2 tbsp lemon juice
- ¼ cup olive oil
- 1 tsp red pepper flakes
- 1 tsp sugar
- ½ cup scallions (1/4 cup set aside for garnish)

Prepare the Seasoning Mixture and Pork Tenderloin:

- Seasoning mixture - Mix together the dried basil, oregano, paprika, salt, and pepper.
- Season the tenderloin with the seasoning mixture.
- Heat the olive oil in a skillet over medium-high heat. Add the pork to the skillet and cook until it has a golden crust. Reduce the heat to medium and continue cooking until the inner temperature of the loin reaches 150°F. Remove pork from the skillet and set aside.

Prepare the Caponata:

- On a lined pan, roast the eggplant, onion, garlic cloves, and mushrooms until browned.
- Once browned and cooled, peel the eggplant and rough chop.
- Mix in capers, lemon juice, red pepper flakes, sugar, and ¼ cup of scallions. Set aside in a bowl.
- In the same skillet use to cook the pork, add the lemon juice and the eggplant mixture. Add paprika and warm it through. Season with salt and pepper.
- After the pork loin has rested for about 10 minutes, cut into four different portions and serve alongside the caponata. Garnish with paprika and scallions - enjoy!

Meal modification options to meet our clients' nutritional needs:

Renal Disease and Diabetes

We use a low fat egg substitute in place of eggs, decrease the amount of yogurt in the tzatziki sauce, and substitute low fat yogurt in place of the Greek yogurt. Additionally, we eliminate the honey in the tzatziki sauce for our diabetic clients.

Bland Diet

We eliminate all herbs, spices and seasonings (except for a little salt), and eliminate all strongly-flavored ingredients such as onions and garlic.

Vegetarian

We substitute freshly-made falafels in place of meatballs.

Salted Butterscotch and Oatmeal Cookies

(makes 3 dozen)

Everyone needs a little treat now and then, right? Salted Butterscotch and Oatmeal cookies should come with a WARNING: You may not be able to eat just one. That is to say these are the perfect combination of salty and sweet. Project Angel Heart has quite a few cookie recipes, and this one is the new favorite. In fact, we are sure it will be a favorite in your home, too.

2 cups all purpose flour	1 cup white sugar
½ tsp baking powder	2 eggs
1 tsp baking soda	1 tablespoon vanilla
½ tsp salt	2 cups quick cooking oats
1 cup butter (room temperature)	1 bag butterscotch chips
1 cup brown sugar

 ¼ cup salt for sprinkling (Kosher salt works best) ***

- Preheat oven to 350°F.
- Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, and ½ teaspoon of salt.
- Add quick cooking oats and butterscotch chips to the dry ingredients and mix to incorporate. After doing this, set mixture aside for later use.
- In a separate bowl, mix the brown and white sugar into the butter until they become a light and fluffy mixture.
- Separately mix the eggs and the vanilla. Slowly add the eggs and vanilla into the butter mixture and incorporate thoroughly. Be sure to scrape the bottom of the bowl to make sure there are no butter pockets stuck down in the bottom or sides of the bowl.
- Bring back the dry ingredients and slowly and carefully incorporate it into the butter and egg mixture. Once again, be sure to scrape the bottom and the sides of the bowl with a spatula to ensure proper mixing.
- Using a teaspoon, drop the cookie dough onto an ungreased cookie sheet.
- Chill the cookies for about 10 minutes. Chilling is an important step in making cookies because it allows the butter to harden, which in turn will create a deliciously plump and chewy cookie. **
- Once they have chilled, press the top of the cookies slightly, flattening them into a more cookie like shape. Sprinkle the tops of the cookies with salt.
- Bake in the oven for 10-12 minutes or until golden and brown!
- Allow them to cool slightly (if you can).
